ner, Judge. 10 a. m., State vs. Langton 2 p. m., Tillman vs. Smith.

+++++++++ Adit -Gen Charles S Burton of the Utah National Guard and cashler of the State Bank of Utah, is charged with deception and fraud in a suit brought against him as executor of the will of Susannah S. Young and the will of Julia Young Burton, both deceased, by Parker B. Pratt, adminstrator of the estate of Alma Pratt, decosed. The complaint, filed in the Disceosed. The complaint, filed in the District court yesterday, alleges that Julia Young Burton was the adopted daughter of Susannah S. Young and the wife of Gen. Burton. Mrs. Burton died in 1829, about three years before Susannah Young, who in her will made her adopted child the devisee of all her household goods and chattels, together with one-half of all the residue of her estate.

The defendant was the sole beneficiary of the will of Julia Young Burton and the executor of the last will and estate of Susannah S. Young.

On April 6, 1898, the defendant is charged with having filed a petition in the District court asking for a distribution of one-half of the residue of the estate of Susannah Young to Julia Burton, her heirs, executors, legatees or assigns. Julia Young Burton is alieged to have been dead more than eight years previous to the filing of the petition, and the petition is said to have in no way disclosed her death, and that the defendant did not claim to be her heir or legatee, and that it was not shown that she did not die without lineal issue.

The one-half of the estate in dispute is ner heir or legalee, and that it was not shown that she did not die without lineal issue.

The one-half of the estate in dispute is valued at $29.70 cash, twenty shares of the capital stock of the State Bank of Utah, twenty-one shares of the capital stock of the Z. C. M. I., four shares of the capital stock of the Prove Woolen mills, one share in the Salt Lake Dramatic association, six shares Home Fire Insurance company and merchandise in Cutter Bros. company, $46.88.

The defendant is alleged to have received the property and to have refused upon demand to surrender the same.

The complaint recites that Alma Pratt, decased, is one of the heirs of Susannah S. Young, and that her will as regards Julia Burton was void for the reasen that she had died prior to the death of the decedent Susannah Young.

It is held that the property of Susannah Young should be distributed under the law to her heirs, some of whom reside in Weber county, some in Salt Lake county and others outside of Utah.

The plaintiff is administrator of the estate of Alma Pratt, who died in this city November 13, 1902 and who was son and

SHOCKLEY GIVEN TIME

District Judge Morse yesterday granted District Judge Morse yesterial granted a two weeks' postponement for the trial of the case of the State against J. M. Shockley, charged with murder in the first degree for the killing of two streetcar men on the night of January 8th. The case, which was formerly set for March 2nd, will now come up on April 4th.

March 25nd, win now come up on April 4th
Attorneys Smith and Wilson, representing the defendant, appeared before Judge Morse yesterday afternoon with affidavits in which it is set out that they would be unable to prepare for the case in time for the date set, owing to a big water suit coming up before Judge Hall. Shockley also signed an affidavit to the effect that he was expecting to receive some money about the first of April and that the money was necessary in a preper preparation of his case. The attorfievas sought to have the case continued until the last of April. April 4th

EVEN FRIENDSHIPS HAVE THEIR FREAKS

A friendship with a unique history has that, and when asked how they happened to be in each other's company the girl said: sprung up between Clyde Ellison and Miss Lena Hall of this city. The names have recently appeared in the newspapers of this city in connection with two sensational deaths, and it must have been a fellow feeling that prompted them to walk up the street together last evening. They were chatting affably and from their

It was hardly necessary to remind either of them of the novelty connected with their appearance together. They realized The name of Watson, whom Ellison sho

COAL BILL WAS MEN ARE BACK AT WORK. TOO BIG.

ITEM FROM DEPARTMENT ACCOUNT.

Mayor Morris yesterday struck a bill of 3162.55, by the Wolstenholme Coal company, from the departmental requisition pay sheets. The bill is for coal used last nonth at the city jail. The bill was considered exorbitant by the Mayor and whe sidered exorbitant by the Mayor and when the payrolls were submitted to him yesterday for auditing he scratched the above item off before signing his approval. The Mayor approved the action of the City Council in allowing Dr. Benedict only $125 for the balance of his claim amounting to $451. Dr. Benedict took care of Patrolman Heath at the time he was shot by the hold-ups and performed a successful operation upon his foot. His bill for this work was $65. He also presented another claim of $151 for services rendered in attending to several cases at the police station.

The Council some time ago appropriated $5.5 to his credit, which the doctor-refused to accept. Tuesday night $1.25 more was placed to his credit, making a total of $500, in full satisfaction of his bills amounting to $8.50. Dr. Benedict has not yet accepted the compromise offered and is debating about bringing suit against the city for the full amount or more, as he says the services were of greater value than that placed upon them in his claims.

SIX JURORS IN THE ROSE CASE

Another Special Venire Made Necessary by the Fact That So Many Men Are Biased.

James Moffat,

Richard Howe. +++++++ The above six men had been accepted as jurors to listen to the evidence to be introduced in the Frank Rose murder trial, now on before Judge Morse in the crin-now on before Judge Morse in the criminal division of the District court, when adjournment was taken last night. District Attorney Elchner was much improved and occupied his usual place before the jury box. The entire day was devoted to securing the last five named jurors.

Altogether forty-six talesmen were exmained and forty-one were excused on one ground or another. The majority of those excused get out of scrving on the case on the ground of bias. They say they have formed a settled opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner from what they have read in the opers and that it or innocence of the prisoner from what they have read in the papers and that it would be impossible to give him a fair and impartial trial. It is said that the men are either of a low order of intellect or guilty of wilful perjury in saying they could not lay their opinions aside and decide the case on the evidence to be introduced.

Before adjournment was taken another special venire of sixty names was issued by Judgo Morse. The summonses are made returnable at 10 o'clock this morning, until which time the case was continued. At the present rate it will take several days yet to secure the remainder of the twelve men necessary to constitute the jury.

Rose occupies his usual chair before the court and displays no interest whatever in the selection of the men in whose hands his life is to be entrusted.

deceased was employed by the mining company in filling ore from a chute late cars of the railway company at Eureka, and that while so employed he was killed on May 4, 1991.

The complaint alleged that the brakes on the cars were not in repair and that the death of Smith was caused by the negligence of the defendants. In its answer the railway company alleged contributory negligence and that Smith's death was occasioned by the risks incident to his employment.

The jury in the case returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs against the railway company for $11,009, and the defendant appealed.

The opinion of the Supreme court is delivered by Justice Bartch and concurred in by Chief Justice Baskin. The opinion helds: "The conclusion, from the evidence, is irresistible that the lamentable misfortune was the result of his own heedlessness, being directly attributable to his disobedience of the rules and instructions of his employer at a time when, so far as appears from the record, there was the existence of no emergency which required hasty action."

It is held that in the light of the law the plaintiffs had no right to recover damages, and that the court erred in refusing to instruct the jury to return a verdict in favor of the defendants.

Justice McCarty writes a dissenting opinion, in which he concurs in the reversal, but arrives at the concusion in an entirely different manner from his aspociates. He holds that the action is a bona fide one in so far as the law is concerned, but that the court erred in an entirely different manner from his associates. He holds that the action is a bona fide one in so far as the law is concerned, but that the court erred in instructing the jury and that a new trial should be granted on that score.

MAYOR MORRIS CUTS OUT AN WORKMEN ON STREET ASSURED BY MAYOR MORRIS THEY WOULD BE PAID.

When Mr. Condie received the Mayor's letter to the heads of departments, stating that he would not sign the payroll for any employee not regularly employed, the supervisor naturall inferred that he was to discharge the extra men. He consequently told them that if they wanted to work they must look to the Mayor and City Council for their pay. The men then went to Mayor Morris and it is said that he told them that he would see their payrolls through. GOOD Y. M. C. A. WORK FOR AMBITIOUS BOYS

George B. Hodge Points Out the Great Importance of Giving Young Men a Chance.

George B. Hodge, the educational specialist of the Y. M. C. A. of North America, spoke most enthusiastically of the improvement of the city since his visit here eight years ago, and also of the future which he believes awaits it. Asked ture which he believes awaits it. Asked as to the educational work to which he is giving his life as a specialist Mr. Hodge said:

"The educational field may seem to be well covered. Our magnificent system of public schools, high schools and universities are a source of national pride, and well they may be, and yet, with all we have accomplished, some things of very great importance remain to be done before all of our young men and boys can be said to have had an 'educational chance.' It is seen that only 3½ per cent of the boys and young men personally enjoy any educational opportunities above the grammar grades—that is, including all our high schools, colleges, professional schools, universities, etc. The average length of school life of the 97 per cent of our boys and young men in the United States is only about four years, and that, too, before their years of discretion, and the training then received is all too often given by inexperienced and uninterested instructors."

Mr. Hodge also believes the educational work of the Y. M. C. A. is of very great importance to the business and commercial interests of the city, and cited in justification of his view a large amount of tification of his view a large amount of money which is being paid out annually by many corporations in order that their men may have the opportunities afforded by these schools and the other phases of men may have the opportunities anothed by these schools and the other phases of association work.

He said: "It is a most significant fact that in the recent temporary depression two large employers of labor in cutting down their forces of employees, announced to their foremen that no young men who were attending Y. M. C. A. night school should be let go, giving as a reason that the industrious young men who were that the industrious young men who were that the industrious young men who were thus increasing their earning capacity were too valuable to be spared."

Mr. Hodge left yesterday afternoon for Colorado Springs, where he will hold an institute and public meeting this afternoon and evening, spending Saturday in Denver, the has visited fourteen Western associations and reports splendid progress in his department. He was joined in this city by Mrs. Hodge, who had remained with friends in Los Angeles while he made the trip through the Pacific Northwest.

ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED

A special stockholders' meeting of the Ontarlo Consolidated Gold Mining company, with property at Park City, was held at the office of Snyder & Wight in Park City Tuesday afternoon. Nearly every share of the stock issued was represented, and the following board of directors was elected to serve until the next annual meeting. John E., Lucey, Frank R. Ball, A. E. Beverldge, Thomas W. Bell and R. J. Decker.

At the close of the stockholders' meeting the directors-elect met and elected the following officers: F. R. Ball, president; John E. Lucey, vice-president; A. E. Beverldge, secretary; Thomas W. Bell, treasurer.

Thomas W. Bell of Park City was also Beveridge, secretary; Thomas W. Bell, treasurer.

Thomas W. Bell of Park City was also elected managing director and instructed to prosecute development work vigorously. Arrangements were made to employ men at once, and a force of men is now at work on a well-defined ledge which can be traced into the workings of the adjoining property, the Scottish Chief, which lies just over the summit, on the Cottonwood side of Scott hill. As the company is now drifting on the ledge and all conditions are favorable, a strike may be reported at any moment, and the management hopes to have the property on a paying basis before the summer is over. The company has still over 120,000 shares of stock in its treasury, is free from debt, and the likelihood of an assessment is very remote.

BRILLIANT FUTURE AHEAD OF IDAHO

Pocatello Merchant Tells of What Is Being Done in the Way of Reclaiming Arid Land.

"There has been a good deal said about the development and growth of Idaho, but there are few persons outside of the State who have an adequate idea of what that development really means," said J. C. Weeter, president of the Weeter Lumber company at Pocatello, who is in this city for a few days on business. "It is safe to say that during the next five years safe to say that during the next five years not less than 750,000 acres of the most productive lands in southeastern Idaho will be brought from the desert state to a high state of cultivation by new irrigation projects, which will mean a million added population. Such a growth—a growth of so permanent a character—is probably unprecedented, even in rapid Western progression, and it is difficult to estimate the results in matters of trade and industry. Already we are seeing Western progression, and it is difficult to estimate the results in matters of trade and industry. Already we are seeing some of the results of this development of sgrieultural resources. Last year a new sugar factory was built at Idaho Falls and this year another is being built at Rexburg, and wherever such improvements are started prosperous communities spring up in a very short time, communities which become at once great producers. Why, more than 2000 carloads of produce were last year abipped from Idaho Falls alone, and it is only a fair example of scores of other communities which are being brought into existence by the extending of irrigation and the building of branch railroads to the new country opened up.

"Among the more prominent irrigation projects already under way is the one undertaken by the Government, south of Minnidoka, which will bring in 199,000 acres of land; others taken up by private enterprise are at American Falls. Twin Falls and Glenn's Ferry, which will bring in 199,000 acres of land; others taken up by private enterprise are at American Falls. Twin Falls and Glenn's Ferry, which will bring in 199,000 acres, respectively, and there are many smaller ones which do not attract much attention but which will help to swell the grand total. I might add that these irrigation projects are all in the territory which is tributary to Pocatello, and I believe that we may

I might add that these irrigation projects are all in the territory which is tributary to Pocatello, and I believe that we may confidently anticipate that our little city will receive its full share of the benefits which are to accrue from the remarkable developments which are to make Idaho the richest State in the intermountain country."

DENVER CONFERENCE WAS WITHOUT RESULT DENVER, Feb. 25 .- The traffic conference just closed between officials of the Colorado Springs & Cripple Creek

The traffic agreement which expired February 1st last was not renewed, each demanding a greater percentage of the earnings. As a result of the failure to arrive at an agree-ment both sides are preparing for another rate war. The Denver & Southwestern is an independent corporation which is owned largely in New York City, as is almost all the bonds of both companies. About eighteen months ago the competing lines waged a disastrous rate war ex tending over a period of several months, and the bondholders of the Denver & Southwestern took over that corporation. MOFFAT SURVEYORS AT WORK IN EASTERN UTAH

The Vernal Express has the following interesting item of railroad news:
"Assistant Chief Engineer Smith of the Moffat road returned from his trip the Moffat road returned from his trip with Charles Carter over the proposed line from Leland to Vernal last Sunday evening. He found that part of the country very rough, and formed the conclusion that a line to reach Vernal and be feasible should leave the Duchesne above the bridge.

"The survey down the Duchesne crosses from the north to the south side near the Indian village and follows the river on down to the bridge.

lows the river on down to the bridge. The trip with Mr. Carter will result in a change being made in this survey as far as it applies to the Vernal, or upper route, and a line will be continued on down the north side of the river and across Lake Fork, and on around on the ridge this side of the bridge and on to Dry gulch. From there it is easy running to the fort and on several miles further, when some little difficulty is encountered in getting across the washes that cross that section, but a pretty good line can be found nevertheless through to the Uintah gap west

"In reply to a question Mr. Smith stated that the line from here to the stated that the line from here to the Duchesne was perfectly feasible.
"A trip was also made during the week to Island park by Mr. Smith in company Isaac Burton and Mark Batty. When asked concerning this section of the line Mr. Smith stated that Brush creek was the hardest proposition on that part of the line. From Vernal to Brush creek via the Burton gap will, however, furnish a pretty good grade, and from the creek to Island park would give no trouble.

good grade, and from the creek to island park would give no trouble.

"Thursday morning Mr. Smith started for Jensen by way of the mouth of Split mountain and will be gone several days looking over the country around Blue mountain. When this trip is finished he will be able to form some conclusions as to which route will be chosen, but it will not be definitely known until the lines are actually run. known until the lines are actually run and submitted to headquarters.
